

Leadership from the core

Discover and develop your leadership potential

A two days workshop led by Stuart Black

Cordium Nijmegen, de Ruyterstraat 65

7- 8 april 2015

What means leadership to you?

This workshop shows how it is possible to understand and transform leadership at the core level. Leadership requires presence, authenticity and the art of taking risks. This workshop encourages you to be fully present and alive.

What do you need to be a good leader?

Sooner or later, every leader who would like to lead more effectively finds him-/herself blocked. This workshop let you experience how we can find the means within ourselves to identify and remove these barriers in order to fulfill our leadership destiny.

Can you learn it or is it given to you?

This workshop is a wake up call for those who are ready to unleash the power of authentic leadership. We invite you to explore the core of your leadership.

Dare you?

This workshop gives you the experience that helps you to reflect on your own life, challenge your thinking, practice new ways of being and manifest growth from the inside out.

Stuart Black

For many years Stuart Black was director of "The institute of Core energetics of New York". He was teaching the principles of Core Energetics all over the world. Now he's supporting initiatives in Mexico to empower people in their transformational process. He integrates the principles of Core Energetics in Leadership Issues.

Core Energetics

Core Energetics is a body-mind oriented method designed to help people connect more deeply with their true nature. Core Energetics integrates the body, breath, energy and voice to help one explore one's body's energy and consciousness.

The workshop will be hands on experiential and not just conceptual.
